GLENOLDEN

The accompanying description and information regarding the beautiful and thriving Borough of Glenolden was compiled by us with the desire of reaching those who contemplate locating in the suburbs and to induce home-seekers to settle in the country, where every convenience of city life is afforded them, united with the pleasures and quietness of a suburban home.

The population of Glenolden is about 2000. Eight miles distant from Philadelphia.

Highest point of land between Philadelphia and Wilmington, rolling ground, fine natural drainage, healthy and free from malaria and kindred ailments.

Has fine graded schools, churches, stores, fire department and Y. M. C. A. No saloons or liquor licenses.

Attractive building operations and borough improvements constantly going on. More houses were erected in this place in the past few years than any two boroughs on Chester Pike.

Many fine residences with beautiful and well-kept grounds are found on the main streets of the Borough.

The ornate buildings and attractive grounds of the H. K. Mulford Company, biological laboratories, the largest institution of the kind in the world, are located East and South of the Pennsylvania R. R. station.

The attractive character of the rolling woodland to the East of the Pennsylvania R. R. has led to the erection of many beautiful properties in this new section of the town. Glenolden Manor in this section and other points in the borough afford admirable and unequalled building sites with fine views of scenic beatuy.

The heights, around which flows the Muckinapates Creek, offers some splendid bungalow plots.

The new bridge, which will span this picturesque stream at Glenolden Avenue, opens up a drive way to the ridge on the South which overlooks the Delaware River. This section will afford some magnificent sites for homes and small estates heretofore not easy of access.

Property subject to less taxation than corresponding values in Philadelphia or adjacent boroughs.

Twenty-two trains each way on week days. Ten on Sundays. Running time eighteen minutes.

RIDLEY PARK

Sacrificing the straight line for the "Line of Beauty," many of the wide streets and avenues of this beautiful suburb are laid out in graceful curves, bordered by old shade trees and verdant lawns, fronting stately homes, set well back from the building line, presenting a pleasing scene of rural beauty.

Ridley Park is admittedly one of the most attractive of the suburban boroughs, and one of the most inviting, to the seeker after an all-satisfying home location, with city facilities and the charm of pleasing semi-rural life.

The ground is high and rolling, and the numerous parks scattered over the borough are being beautified by the efforts of an energetic civic association.

Macadamized streets, cement sidewalks, sewerage, gas, electricity, Springfield water, a school with a four-year High School course, and the absence of saloons, are features which appeal to the home-seeker.

There is a good fire department, a new Carnegie Library, an auditorium seating 500, with a kitchen, stage and scenery; stores; Presbyterian, Episcopal, Methodist, Baptist, and Catholic churches, but no industries.

The Ridley Park Social Club, a golf club, tennis club, gun club, literary club, and women's club, and a dramatic organization with 250 active members, provide recreation and entertainment for the residents. There are no hotels and but a few scattering boarding houses. Houses may be rented from $25 to $50 monthly, or purchased for $4000 to $45,000, or land can be had without burdensome restrictive features.
